10 QUESTIONS

by Phyllis Wilcox

This month we interviewed Jessica Selby who opened the Children's Center for Creative Learning in February 2009. Jessica brings her background in early childhood education and her experience as a parent to this enterprise. The center is licensed for 22 children ranging in age from six weeks to 6 years old.

Q. The "Children's Center for Creative Learning" has been open since February, 2009. Is this the fruition of a life-long dream to have your own child-care center?

I knew from an early age that I wanted to be a teacher. My first grade teacher inspired me and I have never changed direction.

Q. The building that you occupy has been the site of many different types of businesses in the past. Was there much renovation necessary before you could actually open the doors?

The building was one wide-open space. We did a lot of construction. The fire department required a lot of work. There was a need for fire protection between the upstairs residents and the commercial use downstairs. We had to install a fire alarm system and add another door to the outside. We installed a bathroom and kitchen area. The renovation took about 10 months with my husband and I and volunteers doing most of the work. We bought the building from Rich Stanley who owned "Video Pursuit."

Q How many people are employed at the center? What

Letter from the Editor

The Bradford Bridge Board and staff join the town in extending condolences to the families of Addy Stewart and Isabel Sheehan. Addy's dedication to her family, clients, friends, and community will long be remembered. Her life of caring for others continued as she, herself, received care. Isabel served as selectmen's secretary and as a member of the Bicentennial Committee, helping to stage one of the grandest celebrations in recent Bradford history. Remember husband Fred's portrayal of the Town Crier?

Slow as it may seem at times, Bradford is moving forward. The successful Safe Route to Schools planning grant will help to begin the process of pulling the community together to make Bradford a safer and more walkable community. With completion of the West Road Bridge, travel around town is without the tedious detour. It may take longer to replace the bridge on Breezy Hill Road, but if the hoped for mitigation grant is approved, much of the financial burden will not come from our property tax.

Signing of the contract with the State DOT will allow the town to begin actual implementation of the $516,800 Transportation Enhancement Grant awarded to the Town in April.

As you read through the Selectmen's Highlights or the full minutes of their meetings, you realize the varied subjects the Board of Selectmen deal with on a daily basis. Stop by the Town Hall to attend a meeting or just to visit and admire the almost completed paint job; even volunteer to help with the finishing touches. This is our town and we are all part of it.

Discussions continue regarding improvements to the Town Hall, additional uses of the Community Center, and future use of the Naughton property with the possibility of "brownfields" funding to make the area useable.

It is time to seek public input and this will be done at a forum to be held on Saturday, November 6 from 8:30 – 11:30 AM at the Highway Garage. Save the date and plan to be part of shaping Bradford's future.

In the meantime, enjoy the glorious autumn weather (as this is written it still feels like summer), the brilliant colors of NH woods, and the many activities that keep us and our families busier than we really want to be.

Marcia Keller

Budget Committee: The Budget Committee has scheduled meetings with all town department heads for the first two weeks of October to discuss each department's needs as the 2011 budget is prepared. Letter sent to each department stated in part: "The Budget Committee is considering asking for an overall 5% decrease in town department spending to keep the tax burden on our citizens as low as possible. When we meet with you, please inform us of what impact an overall 5% reduction in spending would have on your department."

Abutters concerns for drainage and the travel direction of trucks using the site were noted. The Board voted to accept the application and scheduled a site walk for late September. The ZBA and the Conservation Commission were notified of the walk. The Public Hearing on the Application for a gravel pit permit for this site will be continued on October 12.

Selectman's Highlights

The Selectmen paid tribute to two long-time Bradford residents: Addy Stewart, a long time volunteer in town attending rescue calls, blood pressure clinics, giving flu shots; Isabel Sheehan who served on the Bicentennial Committee.

Selectmen thanked Sandra Wright for her efforts in the painting of the Town Hall.

BACC Use of the Bradford Area Community Center has been discussed at several meetings. Robert Manchester presented information indicating there is excess space that could be better utilized. Cheryl Behr gathered input from Center Director Kate Dobrowski, CAP (Community Action Program) that runs the Senior Center and Meals on Wheels, and CDFA (Community Development Finance Authority) that handles details of the CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) that provided funds for development of the building. These reports indicate that the rents paid for use of the building do not cover the costs to run it and that the CDBG grant would not be jeopardized if alternate uses were made in some of the spaces.

Selectmen stressed that they have no intention of closing the BACC, but want to explore ways to meet some of the shortfall by negotiating rents paid by some now using the building and through increased usage of available space.

Town Hall Details of the landscaping plan prepared for the town by George Pelletieri Assoc. were discussed as some residents were unhappy with the proposal to remove the lilac bushes on either side of the front door. It was pointed out that the lilac is the NH state flower and that the shrubs could be trimmed to open up the view of the windows. Selectmen agreed that the lilacs should be trimmed and retained and that the landscape committee could use the $500 remaining in their budget to begin with other portions of the plan.

Denise Renk inquired about use of the second floor of Town Hall for "Zumba" classes one evening per week. Selectmen suggested a fee of $25.00 and required the instructor to carry insurance.

Selectmen voted to proceed with an Energy Audit to be done by Bruss Construction.

At a meeting of the Town Hall Restoration Committee, Michael Bruss, outlined five areas of concern for work on the building:

1. Life Safety
2. ADA Handicapped
3. Interior
4. Parking
5. Water System

The next meeting of the committee will be held at 6 PM on October 6 at the Town Hall.

Highway Department Selectman Peter Fenton stated there is now an actual road crew in town doing jobs that previous crews did not do.

Concerns were expressed for the condition of Massasecum Ave., which the road agent will look into.

The work on East Main Street has been completed.

The West Road Bridge has been completed, subject to final "punch list" by the contractor.

Speed on Marshall Hill was raised as a concern with the difficulty of pulling out onto the road because of poor site distance. "Blind driveway" signs have since been put in place.

Selectmen voted that Road Agent Jeff Remillard has successfully completed his six-month probation.

A Hazard Mitigation Grant will be applied for as part of the effort to replace the Breezy Hill Road bridge at the 103 end. A temporary bridge would be installed to keep the road open during construction, but not for several years.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

We urge you to join us in re-electing Barbara C. French and Beth Rodd to the NH Legislature. Both have worked diligently on the state level as well as on the community level for the betterment of their respective towns.

Among myriad projects, Barbara was on the original Master Plan Committee in the mid 1980s and followed through by working on the subsequent updates in the 1990s and 2000s.

Along with her many other activities, Beth was an active participant in the Bradford Improvement Association.

In this tidal wave of anti-incumbency, these two women deserve to be returned to the state house for their experience, dedication, and constituent service.

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

HUGE THANKS TO THE VOTERS IN HENNIKER &
BRADFORD!!

I want to take this opportunity to offer my heartfelt thanks for all of the help and support I received from so many people. With your help, we were successful in winning the Republican nomination for State Representative in Henniker and Bradford.

It's time for new people with new energy and real world solutions to jumpstart our economy, get people back to work, and make our government smaller and more efficient.

My pledge to you: I will fight to REDUCE TAXES and CREATE JOBS in New Hampshire.

I want you to have more money in Your pocket, not in the government's hands.

I know we can fix this, and I know I have the skills and experience to get the job done. For more information, please visit my website Laurie4NH.com or call me anytime at 428-3985. I would love to hear from you, and I would really appreciate the honor of representing you in Concord.

Very truly yours,
LAURIE SANBORN

To the Editor,

With elections just around the corner, I would like to suggest everyone do their homework, and know who you are voting for. There is an interesting web site, www.votesmart.org, that can help, and it is free.

For instance, did you know that Beth Rodd supports an income tax, and Barbara French supports greatly increasing corporate taxes, AND wants to give illegal immigrants in-state tuition? And that both voted for the interests of the New Hampshire Business and Industry Association 0 percent in 2009?

With this economy, shouldn't we be represented by someone more "business friendly"? Please do your homework, and vote.

To The Editor:

We thank you for your votes of confidence in the September 14 NH Primary race. We would be honored to continue our service to the people in the towns of Bradford and Henniker in the next session. Both of us have been proud to serve our communities in many volunteer capacities over the past several decades and trust you will demand the same standard of service from all candidates for House and Senate races. We actually live in our communities and are part of the fabric of everyday life.

We will not offer you misleading sound bites without substance. Would that things were that simple. As anyone who has worked in government knows, it is not that easy to solve the problems that face us today. What we will offer is well thought out deliberation with bipartisan input so that we can move ahead in these difficult times. We try to offer reasonable solutions and want to hear input from you. Please vote in the general election on Tuesday, November 2. The future of our state depends on your support. Thank you.

Did you know...???

The Facts on Adult Immunizations.

Much of the talk of vaccines typically focuses on young children. But older adults can also benefit from the protective effects of vaccines. Still, while vaccine protection can be even more important for older individuals, it's less effective than it is in children and younger adults. As we age, our immune systems wear out, just like our muscles and bones. "As people age, their immune response isn't as robust," says Dr. Stefan Gravenstein, a professor of medicine at Brown University who specializes in geriatrics and basic biology. "The pieces of the immune system that need to be able to work are still functional, but they're just not as peppy" as they used to be. Below is a guideline for routinely recommended vaccines and for those recommended less often.

Routinely recommended vaccines:

- Tetanus, diphtheria, pertussis (Td/Tdap)
- Influenza (Flu)
- Human papillomavirus (HPV)
- Pneumococcal (Pneumonia)
- Zoster (Shingles)

The following vaccines may be indicated for certain chronic conditions, occupations, lifestyles, or travel.

- Measles, mumps, rubella (MMR)
- Varicella (Chicken Pox)
- Hepatitis A
- Hepatitis B
- Meningococcal (Meningitis)

Check with your Healthcare Provider about any vaccines you may need.

She was a graduate of Hudson High School class of 1968, Quinsigamond College, Clark University, and Southern NH University. She sent most of her life in central NH where she was Executive Director of The Kearsarge Children's Center for approximately twenty years. A private memorial service for family, friends and co-workers will be held in New Hampshire at a future date.

Isabel M. (Finn) Sheehan, 91, formerly of Oakdale Road, died Sept. 20, 2010, at Pleasant View Center in Concord. She was born Feb. 18, 1919, in Boston, the daughter of James and Margaret (Barry) Finn. She graduated from Jamaica Plain, MA High School in 1937.

Mrs. Sheehan worked for the IRS in Boston and held various secretarial positions. She and her late husband bought their home in Bradford in 1955 as a summer residence and retired there in 1972. While in Bradford, Mrs. Sheehan was secretary to the selectmen.

She volunteered for the Lake Sunapee Region Visiting Nurse Association flu clinic and well child clinic. She had been a member of the conservation committee, the Woman's Club and member and past president of the Bicentennial Committee. She was an avid gardener and reader and enjoyed needlework. Shopping was great fun for her and she recently purchased a leather coat, which she had wanted for many years.

She was predeceased by her husband of 63 years, Franklin "Fred" Sheehan, in 2003; and her son, Arthur, in 2009. Members of her surviving family include two daughters, Ann Powell of Warner and Ruth and husband, John Marden, of Bradford; five grandchildren, Peter, Christine, Daniel, Kathleen and Keith; five great-grandchildren; and nieces and nephews.

Burial was at Sunny Plain Cemetery, Bradford. Memorial donations may be made to Brown Memorial Library, 72 W. Main St., Bradford, NH 03221; or to Bradford Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 381, Bradford, NH 03221.

Leslie A. (Newcomb) Syvertsen, 64, of West Meadow Road, died Tuesday, Sept. 7, 2010, at New London Hospital. She was born July 18, 1946, in Jackson, MI. Leslie attended the University of Connecticut and lived in South Newbury for many years before moving to Bradford five years ago. While her children were small, she enjoyed being a stay-at-home mom and for the past several years had worked at Mt. Sunapee Ski Area in the daycare center.

Pottery was an interest of Leslie's and many beautiful pieces, which she made, were in her home. She also enjoyed aromatherapy, mixing scents and oils. Leslie was musical, enjoying Blues jams and singing. She was in the Jazz All State in high school. Her spiritual life brought her comfort, believing that there are angels among us.

She was predeceased by her father, Bradley Newcomb. She is survived by her partner, Albert Circosta of Bradford; three children, Joshua Hufnagel of Webster, Sigrid Syvertsen and her daughter, Taydra, of Bradford and Luke Syvertsen and his wife, Leah, and their daughter, Stella, of Proctorsville, VT; her mother, Phyllis (Lacey) Roby of Bradford; a brother, Bradley Newcomb Jr., and a sister, Janet Slyman, both of Connecticut; and nieces, nephews and cousins.

Memorial donations may be made to the Leslie Syvertsen Grandchildren Fund, c/o Lake Sunapee Bank, P.O. Box 326, Bradford 03221.

John James "Jim" Shipe, 75, died Aug. 20, 2010, at Concord Hospital, surrounded by his children. Jim was born in Washington, D.C., and attended Gonzaga College High School and graduated from Georgetown University in 1957. He later completed a master's degree at Hofstra University. Jim moved to New Hampshire with his family in 1979 and became an innkeeper, including several years as owner of Massasecum Lodge (most recently Mountain Lake Inn) in Bradford.

Jim greatly enjoyed collecting antiques, vintage boats, motorcycles and cars and going to flea markets and auctions. He was an avid fan and lifelong student of American history, particularly that of the Lewis and Clark Expedition and the expansion of the Western frontier. The greatest times of his life were spent exploring and camping in the West with his beloved wife.

Jim was predeceased by his wife, Mary Jo Dugan, who passed away Aug. 22, 2007. He is survived by his brother, Archie K. Shipe of Columbia, Md.; his children and their spouses, John and Marcy (Roberts) Shipe, Jennifer Shipe Farrell, Andrew and Eleni (Colevas) Shipe and Geoff and Caroline (Shipe) Miller; and eight grandchildren. In response to an inquiry, it was stated that the state would have to be petitioned in order to reduce the current 55 MPH speed limit on Route 114 down to 40 MPH from the traffic light to past the Lumber Barn. This would put it in line with the speed along Route 103 in town.

Transfer Station: Ken Anderson inquired about repaving the access road. The estimate for doing the work is $6,500. Selectmen will continue to explore getting this done.

The solid waste tonnage deposited in the compactor is considerably below the anticipated amount for the year. This could lead to an increased tipping fee charged next year by the solid waste cooperative. Other towns in the district are seeing the same problem.

Town Clerk: Susan Pehrson announced that the next holder of the Boston Post Cane (awarded to the oldest registered voter living in the town) will be Edythe Craig.

Assistant Town Clerk Erica Gross has successfully completed her probationary period.

is involved in the licensing process?

You need health and fire inspection. The state licensing bureau came in to make sure the staff was qualified. I employ three assistants with plans to hire another person. In order to be a lead teacher, you must have 12 early childhood credits. We have 22 children enrolled.

Q. Prior to opening the center you cared for children in your home for six years while you raised your own four children. That seems to be an excellent preparation for your next step to open this childcare business.

I agree that my parenting skills are an asset. All of the 22 kids are like my own.

Q. Your mission statement "Is to provide quality early childhood programs in a safe, nurturing environment." Can you tell me about the curriculum?

We care for children as young as six weeks with a span up to six years old. The span of six years is split into three groups. We have infant /toddler- 18 months to 2 years, then 2 to 3 years, and the third group is 3 to 6 years. It's based on development and what they are capable of doing. We do not have a set curriculum. The teachers come up with appropriate activities. We have walking field trips only because we do not have a van yet.

Q. How do you recruit students?

I do not advertise. I have a waiting list of 10 children. We offer a tour of the facilities for the parents. They have the opportunity to observe their child to see if it is a good match.

Q. Is the center open year-round? What is the average stay for children?

We do not follow the public school schedule. We are open all the time and only close for major holidays. Everyone just continues throughout the summer. I have had kids leave because the family moves. Most of my kids will be here from 18 months through kindergarten.

Q. Has the economy altered your enrollment?

The economy has not affected our enrollment. Both parents, due to the economic downturn, have to work. I am experiencing full enrollment.

Q. You mentioned that your spare time events revolved around cooking, basket making and spending time with your family. Do you ever have time to read, relax, go to the theater or just go out for a stroll?

I do not take much time for myself. I do enjoy my time with my husband and the children. My favorite hobby is making baskets. My life is completely involved with running the school and providing a good environment for the children.

Farmer's Market

By Karen Booker

Food is that substance made of many molecules that we use to sustain our bodies. It is also tied into the economy of our very existence as a town, region, state and country. It's sad to see that only .07 percent of citizens in the US grow our food. To bring this number close to home- 140 of us eat what one of us grows. Here in Bradford, we have a number of willing hands that are trying to manage a living by farming. But it takes a community to help keep these farmers in business by coming to the farmer's markets, farm stands and to the farms to support these neighbors. It is said that a healthy agricultural system is the basis of communal strength, economic vitality, food security and general resilience in uncertain times. (Ben Hewitt in The Town that Food Saved)

Supporting your local farmer supports the local economy. Buying from the farmer, gives her/him a retail price for the product instead of having to pay a middleman. This money will be mostly spent in the local economy - getting her car repaired at the local gas station, having his hair cut at the local barber, etc. Buying direct from the local farmer also builds community. By getting to know the farmer, you engage in a time honored tradition or connection between consumer and the grower. You may learn more about the place where you live and have the added benefit of supporting a local business. By attending the farmer's market, you reap all of these benefits and then some. The Bradford Area Community Center is a great place to hold a Farmer's Market thanks in part to its location in the center of town but is also a place to meet your fellow neighbors. Many days the Center is a hub of activity with different groups meeting, senior meetings and luncheons, and other functions. Many of the local customers have remarked how wonderful it is to have a market in their town so that they don't have to go outside of the town to another market. The Market is small but also young in the way of markets and needs customers to help it flourish and prosper.

The BACC Farmer's Market is almost over for this year, but farming continues throughout the year and into the winter. Those that have animals still care for them and have meat available during the winter and spring. Brandon will have a supply of beef, pork, lamb, chicken and eggs while Pam will have rabbit meat, goat milk when available and baby bunnies. The vegetable vendors will have storage crops available for sale at the farm. Michele will have eggs, winter squash and baskets while Karen will have potatoes and garlic. Those of us that make soap (Pam, Michele and Karen) will have more time to make a supply to have on hand for gifts or if you run out before the next market season. Denise will have mosaic classes off- season. Be sure to pick up a business card or phone number from these farmers to stay in touch with them during the winter months. Also go to your library and check out the books that were quoted in the article; The Town that Food Saved by Ben Hewitt and Lifting the Yoke: Local Solutions to America's Farm and Food Crisis by Ron Krupp or any others on food and the economy. Keep in mind, when you buy locally grown food, you are helping to preserve the strength and character of your community for your children and grandchildren.

Many thanks to the Town Hall Painting Crew

After four days of scraping, taping, and painting we said goodbye to our great crew of (top) Richard, Brad, Joseph, and (bottom) David, Mike, Donald.

As the Entry Hall and Meeting Room were being worked on, there was a lot of laughter while working together and getting a job done. To the NH Department of Corrections and our crew, we say "Thank You".

63rd Annual Warner Fall Foliage Festival
October 9 & 10, 2010

Since 1947, the people of Warner have come together at the height of autumn color to host the Warner Fall Foliage Festival and to welcome old and new friends to our community. This tradition, with roots that reach back to the 1870s with Warner's first street fair, has evolved to the present day festival of crafts, parades, entertainment, oxen pull, woodsmen's contest, farmers' market and the midway. We welcome you to our small central New Hampshire town to experience autumn's splendor and to share in our community spirit.

The Festival is organized and operated by hundreds of local volunteers to raise money for community projects.

Where is the future of high speed internet headed?

To better understand the rural issue you need to understand traditional high speed delivery methods. Traditional high speed internet in our area is delivered with a DSL (Digital Subscriber Line) circuit over a phone line. It's limited by several factors. One being the distance from your home to a 'relay point' and another is the quality of the 26awg copper (phone line) the signal is transmitted on. After a max of about 15,000 to 18,000 ft. the signal quality drops off greatly limiting the options for high speed especially for the last house on the road. Many in rural towns live beyond the reach of these DSL circuits and are limited to either dial-up or a costly and still seemingly slow satellite connection.

Why does a satellite connection feel so slow?

Satellite, although it can reach almost anyone, is limited by its very nature. For instance, results for an online search must pass from the satellite dish through the atmosphere to the satellite then bounce back through the atmosphere to computer servers on earth. The requested information then goes back to the satellite and back to you. In all traveling through the atmosphere at the speed of light four times. This trip takes anywhere between 1-4 seconds or 1000-4000milliseconds.

A DSL circuit would complete this process anywhere from 20-100milliseconds. The higher satellite 'latency' or delay prohibits people on a satellite connection from being able to game online, use online phone systems such as Vonage or do remote work from home connections. (Think of it as low water pressure in the pipes. It can be the same size pipe as a DSL 3Mb service but with much less water pressure.)

So where is the growth and how can it reach rural communities?

There have been several areas of growth in the internet field in recent years. Two of them are FiOS and WISP (Wireless Internet Service Provider). FiOS or fiber internet is an incredibly fast internet solution if you live in the city or a town that has a fiber connection to the home. It can deliver speeds vastly superior to DSL with the needed 'high water pressure' but what about those of us in the rural areas who still don't even have DSL?

This is where WISPs come in. WISPs locate themselves at a high point - home, barn, or cellular tower in many cases, miles out from a location that currently has high speed/FiOS. They can then wirelessly transmit that high speed/FiOS to the elevated location before redistributing it back down to homes that don't have service. These distances are in the low tens of miles as compared to satellite connections and thus don't suffer from the latency drawbacks of satellite. Having access to newer and faster connections such as FiOS has enabled WISPs to deliver bandwidth into previously un-served areas. Thus even though FiOS connections may not be available at your home they enable small companies to better serve rural communities IAMNet opened our first WISP location in Newbury harbor in 2007 to fill a need for internet for local businesses. Then in June of this year we began providing service to residents around Lake Massasecum and in mid September began offering wireless high speed internet to homes in South Newbury. There are still many dark streets in Bradford and Newbury that we would like to serve by providing high speed internet. It is always satisfying to bring high speed to school kids and open the door to high speed for homework and online learning projects. The internet is an empowering tool and we will continue to expand in our neighborhood.

As always feel free to contact me with your questions or concerns.

Home Improvement Pitfalls

When considering adding value to a home, you consistently hear from my industry that updated bathrooms and quality kitchens stand out as proven home sale closers. There are certain other improvements you can make to add beauty or create convenience for your family, but these changes may do nothing to increase the value of the property and could even turn off potential homebuyers. Some examples:

Over-the-Top Renovations

Bigger doesn't always mean better, so skip the bathroom with Italian marble and a supersized steam shower with several spray heads, unless you have the money to do it and it is for your enjoyment only. A simple, tasteful update is the way to recoup your investment.

Swimming Pools

Unless you live in a climate and location where pools are the norm, this is one improvement to skip. With such a short season to enjoy pools in this area, buyers will not want the liability or maintenance that comes with it and some may even ask you to remove or bury it as a condition of the sale.

Home Office Renovations

Home offices are certainly popular with today's buyers, but be careful about how you overhaul a space so that you aren't stealing valuable square footage from another living area. Avoid built-ins and special lighting and create a space that can easily be converted back to a bedroom or den when it comes time to sell.

Unique Builds

HGTV and home magazines are always coming up with clever and creative ways to change the look of your living space. Avoid making outlandish changes that may be perceived as adding work for a future homeowner unless you don't plan on selling anytime soon.

Roof Renovations

If you are experiencing leaks or your roof is near the end of its life, by all means take care of it. But going with cedar shakes or standing seam or clay tiles won't necessarily increase value and a new asphalt shingle roof will be just as well received.

Autumn Recipe - Apple Dumplings

Bring 1-1/2 cups water, 1-1/2 cups sugar, 1/4 tsp cinnamon, 1/4 tsp nutmeg to a boil. Remove from heat and add 3 tbsp butter. Have enough pie crust to cover 6 large apples that have been peeled and cored. Cover each apple with pie crust and pinch ends to completely cover apple. Sprinkle each apple with sugar. Place in large ungreased baking pan. Pour sugar mixture over apples. Bake at 375 for 35 minutes or until apples are done. You may baste with sugar mixture while cooking. With large serving spoon place each apple in their own bowl and pour sugar mixture from pan over each dumpling. Cover each with plastic wrap and place in refrigerator. These are to be eaten cold, YUUUUUMMMMM!!!!!! - - - Maureen O'Keefe
